

Make A Prediction!

I've included 3 graphic organizers to use when making predictions.

The first organizer has the combined "clues/what happened" column. For those students or learners that needs one concept explained at a time, I've included an organizer that just has "clues" and just has "what happened" columns. I've also included an example page to show you how I use the organizer. Thanks for downloading!

Make A Prediction!

Clues or What Happened	What the Clues Mean or What We Already Know

I predict....

Make A Prediction!

Clues or What Happened	What the Clues Mean or What We Already Know
ate breakfast	it is morning
alarm clock failed	he overslept
wearing back pack	he is going to school

I predict....

Mark will be late for school.

Make A Prediction!

Clues	What the Clues Mean

I predict....

Make A Prediction!

What Happened	What We Already Know

I predict....

Make A Prediction!

Your feedback is greatly appreciated!

Each month I give away a free product to a customer who left the most helpful feedback. I announce on my blog, so don't forget to follow me or check in often!

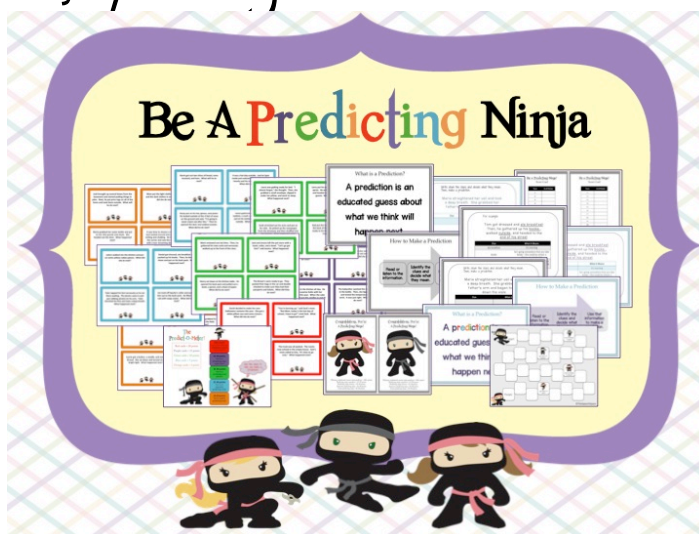

<http://thespeechspace.blogspot.com/>

Follow me on Facebook for product updates, giveaways, and freebies!

<https://www.facebook.com/thespeechspace>

Be a Predicting Ninja!

If you enjoyed using this organizer and you are working on predicting skills, you might be interested in:

[http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/
Product/Be-A-Predicting-Ninja-A-Fun-
Game-for-Practice-Making-
Predictions-1156124](http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Product/Be-A-Predicting-Ninja-A-Fun-Game-for-Practice-Making-Predictions-1156124)

Credits

<http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/Ink-N-Little-Things>

Font by Jessica Stanford

<http://mrsstanfordsclass.blogspot.com/>

thespeechspace.blogspot.com